Students of the Week

100% Weekly Attendance and Uniform Raffle

Dear Parents/Caregivers,

It was wonderful to celebrate Education Week last week with fun activities and our Book Parade. As always, students and community responded well and came together to enjoy the celebrations. The photos are just marvelous.

Student (and teacher) costumes were very thought provoking and clever with all of them representing a book or literary character. We really look forward to our next event where we can showcase our talented students. Thank you to everybody for your participation in this great afternoon.

Students also enjoyed the Trent Barrett Shield this week and we congratulate Dustin, Macy and Layla on their success and participation. We have some very enthusiastic sports people at EWPS!

Congratulations go to Tyler and Zac our latest students of the week. Well done to both boys for their outstanding behaviour and effort.

You will see from our attendance photos that we have fewer students this week, but that's OK. There are many absences that can't be avoided but as long as parents and carers have a valid reason for the absence, it will not effect the mid-term and end of term attendance awards.

Please let one of us know a reason for any absences. That's all we need from parents. So just keeping us informed will help students to receive the best awards.

Finally for the week, congratulations to all the participants in the Spelling Bee earlier in the year. Your awards have gone home today. Well done!

Have a great weekend,

Bruce Robinson,
Principal.
